Last week: agency 8.4% and 17.4%; students 6.0% and 6.0%.

What's working

- Personal and gaming subject lines win on the student list. “I mastered Liu Kang before I mastered ads” did 3x the news-style subjects (8.3% and 7.2%).
- Short, direct questions win on the agency list. “Would you let AI pay your invoices?” (22.2%) and last week’s “Everyone’s panicking about the wrong number” (17.4%) are our two best agency subjects.
- Some opens and early clicks come from email security scanners. Treat the numbers as a direction, not an exact count of readers.

One-to-one emails from your agency sender

- Details emails to new warm leads: Gloudeman and Briarwood were sent on Thu Nov 5. First Class Electric (Albuquerque, NM) goes out on Mon Nov 9 at 9am ET.

Next week (Nov 9–15)

You approved all 8 today. Abdullah is loading them for 8am PT on Mon, Wed, Fri and Sun:

- Agency emails send from chosen@mail.e4lmarketingdemos.com.
- Student emails send from chosen@mail.joineat4life.com.
- Monday’s student email has a picture. It’s being uploaded to GHL first so it doesn’t arrive blank.

Decision needed from you

1. Bounces: Agency sends had 13 bounces this week (some are probably the same address bouncing more than once), and students had 3. OK to tag them “bounced” and put them on Email DND? It protects the sending domains.
